

The In-Between* Content Advisory

Set in a contemporary high school where social media, misinformation, stereotypes and discrimination are ever-present, The In-Between tells a story of three teenagers who navigate friendship as well as their cultural, racial and religious identities. This play depicts scenarios of discrimination and racism, as well as some offensive and racist language that may trigger strong reactions. YPT will provide access to resources, a study guide and workshops. We encourage teachers/caregivers to prepare students/young people and themselves for this online theatrical experience.
